   Renguard is opening as it should except it is minimized and I can't click to play Renegade from it. I had no trouble playing this morning, and have never seen this problem. I'm going to restart my machine and come back here to post.

After restarting I still have the problem. Renguard is "invisible". I can't see the user interface at all. When I click it again on the start menu bar it just sends it to tray.

This happened to me once before, RG is somewhere off the side of your monitor. There are settings in the registry which display where the window appears, you should be able to find them and set them to something like 20 and 20 (20 pixels down, 20 pixels left)

EDIT: Just looked it up, its

HKEY_LOCAL_MACHINE\SOFTWARE\RenGuard

Set Top to 20 and Left to 20

That fixed it, thanks   It was set at 623 in the registry! How did that happen?

I had tried to put my screen on highest res to look for it. lol
