Just installed Renegade, updated patch etc, get this message whenever i try to connect, shows a blank server list.

Also I entered my username and password, ticked automatically remember this info, but the password was wrong (message saying invalid password comes up before the blank server list), and I can't put in the correct password because everytime I type in that username the password box greys out.

Any ideas?

In 'my information', put "automatically log on with this nickname off, then u can change the pass. That, or do "delete account" and re-enter it.
