For some odd reason my Q key just stopped working the other day :S
Whenever i want to give the tank turret control to the passenger i press Q (default key for this) but nothing happens :S

Anyone know how i can fix this without reinstalling renegade?

Change the key that's used for it in the Renegade control settings (in the options menu).

That option is not available in the Options/Config from Renegade

If the server is set to "Driver is always Gunner" you won't be able to switch.

If you have driver is always gunner set to false on the FDS it means that when a passenger enters he will get control of the turret but even then once you press Q you take turret control back, unless of course your Q key dont work lol.

Oh really? I always thought the driver had to relinquish control?
