Details:

As a service to a lot of different people, I've put up a teamspeak that can be used for clanwars by anyone. This is for a variety of games. So if your teamspeak is giving you trouble just before a war you know you have a teamspeak. There is absolutely no obligation to the community that runs it.

If you'd like to reserve a passworded channel for an upcoming war, it will be arranged free of charge. Make your request on the community forum: www.tsugaming.com

The teamspeak address is: ts2.tsugaming.com:7331

A ventrillo server will be added upon request.

This server will be shared by a variety of different clans and communities (games). Please respect their space as you would want your space respected.

fI00d3d, you know that the "free" ventrillo server will only allow 8 players? One way to fix this is becoming a authorized dealer of Ventrillo, but that would require you to get atleast a 1000 player license. So you might want to reconsider the ventrillo server.

I don't use ventrillo for anything. The ONLY thing about it that is good is the voice quality. Everything else completely blows. This is one of the main reason I choose to use Teamspeak for my community. I just figured I'd extend the offer and throw Ventrillo in there for anyone who is hell bent on Ventrillo. It would obviously be based on the amount of interest. I wouldn't throw up a server just for one or two people. Thanks for that tid bit of information, though.

Maybe it's just more of an opinion than anything else. I used to use Teamspeak a lot and now lately I've been using Ventrilo. I like Ventrilo much more.

Ventrillo has better voice quality, but when it comes to speaking to each other over the internet I don't think the voice quality makes up for the many other advantages that Teamspeak has over ventrillo.

Well, I prefer ventrilo because of the sound quality. I like understanding what is being said. I also like to receive the whole sentence when the push to talk is used.

I really enjoy teamspeak and I'd rather not turn this thread into a debate about who prefers what.
My offer at the top remains and I'd like to keep this thread on topic.
