Do you use a program like alchol120%?

Becuase It might be that your using a .iso for renegade, Can't realy say for sure!

No. It won't be that. Renegade doesn't use the disk at all. I play it all the time without any disk or image in.

Same old problem we've been talking about. I've ran RG fine with First Decade, for a few months at least, until this happened.

This problem is becoming more common...

Oh well. At least we're narrowing down what the problem isn't

This doesn't even look like something RenGuard would cause at all. Did you try running it without RG and without changing anything to see if RG is actually the cause?

He means to burn the .iso onto a cd, and use that like a regular game disk. Your computer may or may not be able to do this, as it's an optional thing.

i highly doubt renguard is asking for your game disc!
so if this "no disc" message is really caused only with renguard running im pretty sure its something else / renguard is screwed.

when does this exactly happen? is this error randomly or doesnt renguard even load? seems like its freezed because of this message box.

regards
