Vertond is no moderator.

If you don't like us, then why play on our server? Maybe just so you could come and post this on this forum?

Sod off, you weren't welcome at the end of 2005, you still aren't. Now sod off.

lol oh yeah, i remember that shit. thats when spoony thought my clan mate was some other guy, and he suspended me because he fucked up. then u cried like a little girl and thought it was because i cheated or something. and i wasn't "evading a ban", since i was never banned in the first place, i just don't play there because i get 200 ping. and it wasn't vert who banned me, it was nltiger2 or some shit. good to see you passing your shitty judgement onto your moderators.

Wiggles, Remember when we banned you because you're damage splash on every tank was too much?

Or the fact me and our other admin were in-game and suspected and watched you for a few good games to decide what hacks you were possibly using?

Yeah, sure you didn't pull a JohnDoe there?

You were manually banned back then after your usual maturity issues occurred in those two topics.

I see that hasn't changed. Happy to see you banned again from our server.

You came into my server the other night(RenStation), if you recall I pmd you asking if you went by any other names. I joined you beat me. Did I accuse/kick/ban you for cheating? No. So please don't stereotype people. If you don't like public server then stick to your ClanWar.cc stuff.

At least on this occasion there seems to be genuine reasons for banning from the koss server, tight language regulations seem over the top to me but it's a rule broken all the same.

i hadnt said a word the whole game. i simply raped their infantry with my apache. the game was running smoothly until vert paged me and said "bye" to which i responded with "?" then hem told me i was about to be banned. the point is, that when you entrust 14 year old children with mod, they tend to ban anyone better than them (as seen here and in countless cases before). its a known fact that older people are much more rational in their decision making and often ask for tests/screenshots before banning. example: Duke Gaming Community. ive been tested almost everytime i've played there, asked for screenshots, the works. ive complied with everything and they havent banned me, that's good moderating.

I was unfairly banned from Duke Gaming after just one map playing there, and I got the impression, at least, that the average moderator's age was well below 14. Unfortunately, it's not as though the retardation level decreases with age as I've certainly had just as many problems with moderators out of their teenage years.

EDIT: Apparently I've since been unbanned, so in case a mod from there reads this, thanks.

What Gozzy does on his own server is his own business. I have no opinion on this one way or another since its not my server. Though you probably shouldn't have let him play for a minute if he was on the BOS list.

I have no problems with Goz or his server at all...

And Wiggles irritates me sometimes...

But you're all welcome to play on my servers, get some decent competition, and unless you cheat you will not be banned.

You are correct, I see no more replies from Amunra/spetsnatz.

Those type of players wish to comment on the cheats but always forget that they did it too.
