I'll make this as short as i can. I totally hate EA and i hate what they have done to c+c 3/ the command and conquer series.

Are people here going to ditch the great c+c renegade community for this HORRIBLE game?

I personally refuse to buy it, and i hope no one here leaves the c+c renegade community.

Yeah, I wouldn't buy C'n'C 3, I would pirate it.

I would buy C&C3 only to play and not to mod or anything, therefore I would stay in this community. EA arent that bad. At least they dont kill mods like Microshaft do.

I buy it for sure, still an other great CnC game, but I would only play it for the single player missions and for the new flims.

But I ask you as I havent really been keeping up todate with the game, whats so bad about it?

And yes, fuck EA.

I bet you haven't even looked at any of the content for C&C 3. If you actually watch the videos and read about the community summit, you'd realize how close it is to any other C&C game.

And Alex, I hope you're joking, because I'm getting really tired of reminding you that this forum is warez-free and that you should not promote them.

You guys need to start listening to the moderators of this forum and abiding by the rules. Don't make their job harder than it already is. That goes for everyone.

See how my joke works?

Now, About Nightma, You don't bitch at him? :V

You're missing the point. The point is that warez should not be talked about on these forums, period.

The last thing these forums need is for "RenegadeForums.com" to show up in a search for warez in the Google listings.

I'm going to assume that Nightma will be getting a "telling off" In the moderator's forum?

Joke or not, it is against the rules, and this is not the first time you have spoken of warez on these forums. You agreed to abide by the rules of the forum when you registered an account on these forums, I suggest you do so.

1# I'm not here to fight.

2# Simple mistake, Joke or no joke, It's bad both ways, So if a mod would like to change my first post to -No Message Body- Or something, I'm absolutely fine with that.

By registering, you agree whether you want to or not.

Now back on topic, I think Command & Conquer 3 is going to be a great game. I don't personally care for the graphics all too much, but the gameplay does look fun. I am hoping that the movie scenes are not poorly done or cheesy though, that can ruin the mood of a game. On another note, I wish they would release a hardware specification list soon...

Another thing is to keep showing there is still interest in the C&C universe. If they see no one is interested anymore then it dies and any hopes, even the slightest for another Renegade will be lost as well.

From what I've seen of the previews it looks to be awesome.

I think it might be ok, I am probly gonne play online alot. I liked generals online but everyone is so whinet about everything and the game is horrible and now my router wont let it work online anyway.

I pre-orderd it, I will make some videos and stuff when I get it and tell you guys if it sucks or not. I hope its not another "OMG MASS YOURE THANKS AND U WINZORZ EVERY TIME" I hate that shit, you are tryin to play legit and use some strategy and u lose because youre enemy sat in his base and made 1000 mammoth tanks...

Really? I personally hope that if you spend a ridiculous amount of resources building the most powerful units, your opponent won't be able to stop it by some lame-ass strategy which wipes them all out without any effort whatsoever.

Btw, ever hear of harassment? The idea is you don't let him sit in his base and build 1000 mammoth tanks.

I played an alpha version of C&C3 for about 6 hours at the community summit and I was really happy with it. I know you will all hate me for it but I will be getting my copy for free, but I do intend to play it. I'm very interested in how the storyline unfolds and I'm hoping the RTS as a Sport feature takes off because I LOVE the community aspects of it.

You'll like it a lot better when it's out, because you played it before it was alpha tested.

The cutscene bits they released already look pretty good and at least at Tiberian Sun/RA2 level. Hopefully the CG parts will look better too. I am slightly concerned about how "Sawyer's" acting will be as a Nod commando (or whatever he is). Wonder if he'd be the hero unit too. Kane shall not disappoint, I'm certain.

Oh, and Billy Dee Williams too.

I was wondering about sawyers appearance (He's a main character on the TV Series "Lost", Awsome show.)

But I for one hope it's a promising game.

Petroglyph does not have anything to do with EA, and they are not involved in the creation of C&C 3.

Not "they did"

But if pertoglyh did make it it would be 100% better, and everyone posting on this forum would buy it.
