Your signature is WAY to big. You need to remove pretty much all of the text, and even then, it still violates the maximum signature size of these forums.

You could make a signature image small enough to abide by the forum rules, but still display all the text you want, or just use all plain text and condense it a bit.

What's wrong with his signature right now? It's text it won't stretch the screen. That's the only reason they restrict the horizontal width.

I always thought that if your signature was bigger than any message you posted in forums ... it's too big
