I'm unsure if this has been mentioned before, but this sure made me laugh. In the sewers of gaming development floats a game, called "Lost Colony". Both the so called developers and the fans on their forum have the IQ of a bean. When you take a look at the screenshots and features you will soon realise this game is nothing more than a bad joke.

Let's take a look of their amazing arsenal of weapons:

Sniper rifle anyone?

I'd at least expect better models than most of the stuff there considering it's using DX9. That "Vehicle" is hidious lol.

That's a 100% Rip apart from the back texture where the shoulder rest should go and the front hole.

Lol. Wow, the game looks pretty bad... Bad graphics, too. I mean, I've seen a LOT better MMORPG's with better graphics even. And considering the site boasts it's "amazingly realistic graphics", it's even worse. The indoor screenshots aren't that bad, but really, they look like something from, say, Star Wars Battlefront 2. I don't see anything great, and the textures are AWFUL for outside. Seriously, even I could do a better job in RenX for the outside stuff. And the first person models are AWFUL. And the HUD? Even worse. Even Renegade has better!

Now, if they didn't obviously rip their stuff from ren, didn't say "LOLZ WE HAVE TEH GRET GRAFIX, BUY PLZ", had better texture jobs on the outside stuff, had a better HUD, and whatnot, I'd say it's not that bad. But c'mon, that's NOT next gen... It's like, HL2 graphics at BEST. Barely next generation.
