Okay well, tried to play Renegade lately, unbeknownst that my Hard Drive would go all corrupt.
Fixed it (without having to reformat) and went to reinstall Renegade and uninstalled Renguard, dispite the entire Renegade directory being deleted after I fixed my Drive. So I went back here, downloaded 1.3, 1.03, whatever is the latest one. Then Installation is going good then an error comes up "C:\Westwood\Renegade: Renguard must be installed into your Renegade directory!"

Yea something is messed up...

If you know how the windows registry works: it is safest to delete all renguard related entries before reinstalling it.

Did you update Renegade before attempting to install RenGuard? You didn't mention that in your post.

You can get the patch here:
ftp://ftp.westwood.com/pub/renegade/updates/ok i no this 1 lol samething happend to me if u use a login name for windows u need to instally renguard directly into the default folder.

renegade installs to C:/westwood/renegade

if u have a windows login it sometimes tries to install into the westwood folder located in your username folder.

u cant install renguard to another folder
