Alright,

Without further delay, the gravity gun.

Included are:

- Edited models (it works independent from repair gun)
- Random skin
- Fire sound
- Useless readme

How to get this to work in a mod:

Search the forum, I remember i wrote it down somewhere.

Since i know this will be asked:

No, this does not work when you put the files in the data folder, u silly! It's to be set up in a mod.

Also, since this comes straight out of an unfinished mod, even I didn't get it to work flawless yet. Experiment! And make sure to share your knowledge on getting the perfect tweaked settings.

Thank Renegade's horrible physics engine for making this all possible. Bye now.

Copyright goes to a 2003 mod, TibEvo. This is inspired on a bug in that mod.

It's easier to do this sort of thing server side. In fact it's very easy.

I'd love to see you do that. (@gamemodding)

For the people that asked, here's a sample mod where it's set up. Just the leveledit folder, so export it for yourself.

<http://zilver.demon.nl/@game/downloads/antigrav.zip>

What's not in it:

- A suitalbe muzzle flash that looked somewhat like an obi charge. But it lagged behind you while you were moving.
- Better ammo models, since my pc refuses to export models. This is probably where the biggest increase in handling can be made.

PS: those screenshots just look cool, after 2 minutes of abusing your harvester you will get bored, be warned.

It can pick up other tanks.
For a mammy, just change the weight value in game and watch it fly.
