Actual specs would be nice, images of the wear and tear (if any) would be an addition too but not necessary.

I may take this up, it's about time i got a more personal machine for my needs.

600 $ for that piece of junk is seriously overpriced.

Naw, i lost interest as soon as i read: "PIII".

I have a 6 year old laptop that's better than that. And it's Celeron!

Pentium 3. Also, what's the point of selling BF2 with it if the laptop can't even run it? (Or maybe there is a point...)
