Alright to keep this simple

1. I got my new laptop
2. I installed renegade -> renguard -> corepatch
3. Xwis said my serial was invalid so I used serial changer
4. Didnt help so I tried reinstall renegade
5. Now I am in this situation. If i Install renegade without anything els I can play normal. If I install renguard with renegade I cant get online because I get this error from xwis "invalid serial try reinstall"

Now I think i know whats going something is messed up in my registry because I also notice renguard doesnt auto install corepatch. But with this new installer you cant remove renguard apart from the first decade. And remove first decade doesnt remove renguard register files?

Iam stuck in an endless circuit , anybody got solution?

The old installer had a bug where it breaks TFD serials in the registry, download the updated renguard installer from the website.

This is what I did:

I had (serial)errors with my renegade

-Uninstalled renguard

-Uninstalled the first decade

-Installed the first decade

----- <- at this points i can still play

-Installed renguard with latest installer from www.renguard.com

I get invalid serial error. o.o and also I notice renguard doesnt automaticly come up with corepatch download

Just uninstall all and then install in a different directory and your problem should be solved.
