This happens every time I run renguard. only thing I think it could be would be something to do with the core updates. Also I think there should be a core update 3 now because of scripts 2.9.2

Edit: would seem to be related to my cd with no cd in I get an error code with it in I get the disconnect above

An error occurred within RenGuard. Please report this error: recv - 10054 that the last one I had recordred it might have been different last time.

Heya. Would you mind generating an MD5 hash of your game2.exe? Can do so for instance using:

<http://www.toast442.org/md5/md5.exe>

Just run that, select "Generate Checksums" at the top, and drag game2.exe from your renegade folder into the bottom section. It will calculate the MD5 hash for it. Then, click on "To Clipboard", and paste it into a reply here so I know which EXE is causing problems.

v00d00, my brother was having similar problems, MD5 hash here -

122fbc3e6be1ab7712e18e7e058075c6

AFAIK, that's the Core Patch 2 game2.exe

I had this once, renguard crashed renegade as soon as I joined the tk2 server, without any error message, just said something like;

You have joined tk2 server
You have left tk2 server
Disconnected from network.

I just restarted renguard and renegade and it worked fine then... I have the game2.exe that renguard downloaded automatically.

122fbc3e6be1ab7712e18e7e058075c6 *Game2.exe
^ exe for ren
I have CP2 installed

this is the exe for renguard 406dfe919fbe050fba16d9e78676197c *game.exe would you also like renegade.exe and download.exe as well?

No, they even fixed it. Your client should have updated itself.

Just download a fresh copy of game2.exe from www.renguard.com/_auto_update/game2.exe hate to tell you this but it still disconnects less than a minute later. only new thing is that the WW config tool activates now then after it disconnects.

EDIT: did another md5 check:

816fb75a38701c81212df8dcb50f916d *game.exe
142855ccdb5ad5d010096c9b94b4abe5 *game2.exe

since I can't edit again I think I wasn't clear on what was disconnecting. its renguard that is disconnecting then crashing ren.

It's the memory scanning triggering, and detecting a memory-based cheat, and disconnecting your game client, as it is supposed to.

Got any special drivers, anything that might modify your renegade's memory space? Something that hooks it.

Only thing I can think of.

no never installed any cheats at anytime. I am missing a scripts file that is supposed to be in the data dir. I deleted it after installing a new load screen that I eventually got rid of.

Hi, If this might help you i am uploading you these original work good dll's for ya.

perhaps see if these dll's might cure your problem.

Just unzip them to you westwood/renegade dir and let them over write the other dll's that are in there, but you might want to save (backup) the ones you currently have first.

Anyway let us know how that goes k?.

File Attachments

1) Saved good dll's.zip, downloaded 160 times

While we're on the subject, RenGuard crashed on me while I was playing in the n00bstories AOW server last night. I didn't even realize it until someone force rg'ed me and I got kicked. When I closed Renegade to check, RenGuard showed a send error report.

edit: okay, I was just playing this morning and the same thing happened again, except the server itself automatically kicked me twice. I exited Renegade and it went into a lock. This is the first time I've tried the new version of RenGuard. Anybody have any ideas?
