Tactics and Strategies

Anyway, the first two aren't new, but I would have never thought to hide behind the light pole by the Refinery.

Some people don't know how to be resourceful with the in-game environment. Hence, since they can't do it, others most certainly can't do it either.

I didn't know about the last one either, but they don't take skill to perform.

The last one is clear map bug abuse. The light post never was ment to serve as hiding object (it's too small).

I knew about them but it's nice that you spread them, so at least everyone gets to know them (+ how to defend against them).

Old.

Though nicely editted.

I've been doing all those since they were discovered, the light post thing i found on my own, then found out other people knew it too, while the first two I do practically everyday lol. Some servers say thats obby walk and want me to show them how i got in, once i do, they say i'm ok rofl.

On a server of 24 or 32, you wont.

But 8 on 8, or 4 on 4, you might.

indeed, nothing a few well placed mines won't stop really.

The under trick dates way back before I care to remember, probably right back to the original Renegade demo. it just supprises me how such few people in certain communities actually know about them.

marvellous... i used field one today in 9v9 today, i was happy...

field one is great for initial rush as they are all at harvy.
