Every 15-20 minutes while playing Renegade, I get the "gameplay pending" green text on my screen. I can play Warcraft for an entire day and not disconnect once, but nearly EVERY game of Renegade I drop from the server (but I'm still connected to WOL). I'm currently using cable internet through a router. I've tried port forwarding and disabling Windows Firewall - nothing worked. I have Kapersky anti-virus, and am using Windows Vista (but I did have the same problem on XP). Please help =(

Is this on any game-server or the same one?

But apparently not uncommon.

I know this sounds retarded, I have this problem on occasion and restarting both the modem and the router sorts it out - I take it you have done that?

My modem is actually brand new (less than 2 days old). Restarting it seems to help somewhat though because after a restart I can get a few hours worth of gameplay without a disconnect. However, it doesn't solve the problem 100%.

Do you have a low quality ISP? I know that mine would suck if I wasn't the only one who uses the whole bandwidth at once...

As far as I know Comcast is a pretty good ISP. I typically get 6 down.

Renegade never worked with my router. Then I upgraded my router's firmware and it worked. You should try it. (But make sure you write down your router's settings, upgrading will probably reset it!)

When you say it didn't work, do you mean you couldn't connect at all? Or do you mean you randomly drop like I do?

Alright I got 10 bucks that you all have linksys routers and get cut off between 10-20 minutes. So first off, as already mentioned update your router's firmware. Second for linksys routers go to this site <http://192.168.1.1> and the password is admin, unless you changed it. Then go to advanced and find DMZ host or anything with DMZ. Set it to 100 or 101. This has always worked for me and my friends and got rid of that disconnecting crap. Let me know if you have any problems

I just upgrade my routers firmware to 1.45.10 (the latest they had available even though it was released in 2005). I'll try fixing the DMZ host. Thanks.

My WRT54G has never given me this sort of problem.

I've had 2, one did, one didn't. It's worked for about 10 people that asked me about this.

The Internet is plagued with random disconnects.

Several months ago, I would frequently get disconnected from the n00bstories server just as you described. I stopped playing Renegade for a month or two, and when I resumed play, the problem was gone.

My D-Link router completely stopped working yesterday.
