Quote:Hello,

BETA 7 is completely finished on my half with the minor code change here and then, however over the past 2 weeks i have unable to been able to release it due to delays during the PHP coding of the work (i cant code PHP learning however)

I urgently need a new PHP coder to help me fix one last bug in the Rec Ladder (new feature in BETA 7) and am unable to release BETA 7 untill i find the man for the job

if you are interested please PM me here or on the official renforums andwe will discuss rewards if neccersary - credit will also be given on the public release of the rec ladder + NR BETA 7

-Thank you,

-Nightma12

I only know the basics of PHP so I probably wouldn't be able to handle it quite yet. If you have any questions that I might be able to answer then give me a shout though.

Seriously, you never have anything useful to say, do you?

Ignore +1

It can be annoying to read, and some people would call it spam.

Replace "some people" with "any sane person" and you're onto a winner.

As for the php, if you still need help on the 9th June I'll have a bit of free time. PM me.

this ladder runs on per-server recs and could easily be modified for a global ladder?

in fact i just might do that anybody think its a good idea?

also, thank you for the offers - i will be contacting you on an indervidual basis via PMs/MSN/IRC etc about the coding - Thanks

I know the syntax of PHP, but since it has been so long since i used it, you probably wouldn't need me as you probably know better lol

But still, i'd help if i could lol meh... came up with this idea a few months ago

my script is pretty much already done just need some bug fixes but i cant fix em myself as i dont know PHP what does everybody think of a global rec ladder?

TBH, i think server owners with rec themselves to get to the top.

thats true... they would just edit the NR/BR DB and add themselves up high EDIT: perhaps certain servers could get 'banned' from the ladder? and none of the recs on that server count?

since you can set the recs differently per server/ per bot, I dont think it's a good idea really...

We reset our rec's every now and again as well . So not a good idea I'm afraid.

Aye

some servers rec automatically, others dont

some will rec you for just repairing a building, and others will require other users to rec you, and some allow users to n00b other players, which is a negative rep.

Plus, anyone could get a bunch of mates, go into a server, and rec each other...

What's the point of having another global ladder? We already have a global ladder.

!recing random people is disallowed on my servs.. but yeah i see your point - it would be far too difficult to regulate not via recs we dont

In Night Regulator, make a fixed recommendation system. Then when someone gets recommended it will report it to a ladder server somewhere.

Just in-case a back-up is needed...

Anyway, why the fuck not?

i have had over 3 years of experience working with PHP, i am also the administrator of a website, along with a staff position of many others.

well i wouldnt expect you to hand over any kind of access to someone with absolutely no reputation here, just like to see how you would respond to me.
