Every other hour Renegade Forums and its server backs up all the topics incase of loss due to attack or any other reason.

Right now as it stands it's taking longer and longer because if joe<random numbers> and his posts about the same thing in the mod forum. But its also because each second there is a new post somewhere and it needs to back that up eventually.

So, what's your longest time you've had to wait for a response while renforums was backing up itself?

Here's mine:

Quote:Total time taken to generate the page: 208.76965 seconds

You will find this information at the very bottom of the page.

Don't forget, every other hour it backs it up. The last one was 7pm GMT, so the next one will be at 9pm GMT. The winner with the longest one gets... Over 9 THOUSAND internets.

You may only have one input. If you supply more than one your first will be taken into account and all the rest will be discarded.

You may also talk about ways to speed up the backup time in this topic.

Yeah, It's annoying, Can't you manually back it up once every week or something?

I mean.. You said yourself this forum was made and secured by php security experts.. I don't see a problem here.

What? How can we win over 9000 internets?

Usually around 3-4 minutes here. Incremental backups would seem quite logical.

What you could do is just wait five minutes, if every user didn't try to use the forums when it backed up, it would probably go faster.

I'll submit one later...

I just go check another forum and come back. Because lets face it we all have other forums to go to.

Uhhh... I did change the backups to every 4 hours. The backups aren't just for attacks... just yesterday I made a horrible error and deleted the database for the n00bstories forums which run off the same software. Thanks to my database backups (which had just run 33 minutes before my stupidity), I was able to restore it and no one noticed.

Negative, Sir.

EDIT: Yeah.. But these back-ups happen at the worst possible times.. Your replying to a topic.. then it just takes forever.. Sometimes the message isn't even posted and I get mad!

I wasted 2 mins typeing a message!

Then manually schedule and make a backup before you make a horrible error and delete the database

It doesn't depend on your Internet connection.

That's right. It depends on how large the tubes are.

Why not use daily backups + logging? If you mess up, restore the DB and re-execute the log?

Btw, Total time taken to generate the page: 278.25253 seconds
That's about 4 mins and 45 seconds just for the server to generate a page, then I don't even have it :/
