The title says it all- the problem I am having is that all the text in-game shows up blurry. The last thing I remember doing before this happened was accidentally typing something in the command prompt, but I can't remember what. Here's a screen shot of what the text in my game looked like before:

And here it is now:

I haven't downloaded any mods or anything like that since the Green Tiberium HUD that a friend recommended, (which, for some reason, comes up as unauthorized when I start Renguard...) and that wouldn't have been the problem, since it was present when my text was still looking normal.

Are there any other suggestions besides re-installing Renegade? I was going to do that, and found that I have seemed to have lost my CD-Key.

For your serial problem:

start menu -> run -> regedit

hkey_local_machine/software/westwood/renegade -> serial. Double click. Copy-paste what's in there (this is a hash of your serial) and save it in a notepad file. Then you can reinstall with a keygen key and replace that serial at the same place with what u just saved.

Erm, ignore gozy xD No need to reinstall to fix this.

Just press the F8 key while ingame and type in

SCREEN_UV_BIAS

And hit enter.
