I was playing on UnRules New Maps server and its fun. i like the maps. but one day a few months maybe a year ago i was shooting a stealth tank with a havoc. he said i was stealth hacking even though he was right there and he just went invis. he never even moved... so then i got banned. then i got onto another account and rejoined new maps. i got banned once more even though i was running rg. then i explained my case to unrules forums. they denied me as well. so i am now banned from the forums as well. so i came here to tell people my story and to hopefully get unbanned for the offenses i never made. so please, if any of you could help me out, it would be greatly appreciated. please go to www.unrules.com and try to explain to them what i havent done, or maybe just get me unbanned from the forums so i can talk to them. i would greatly appreciate it. thank you.

If you've been through all that retardation, why would you even want to play at UNRules again? There's many other servers, just try something different.

EDIT: This really has nothing to do with the RenGuard client...

well thanks for the support but the reason i posted it here is because im banned from their forums, they are really mean to me. but fnfalls new maps is the only other one ever played, and theres only like 4 people there most of the time.
