I REALLY NEED HELP !! PLZ

i got a problem with level edit(renegade modding tool) when i had made a simple map with all the buildings and setting inc. waypaths with it i needed to do the next thing:

from tutorial file : <http://www.renhelp.net/index.php?mod=Tutorials&action=view&id=16> pathfinding > generate sectors

but the a message will popup: out of memory this is something with virtual memory (disk space that is used as RAM memory)

I Hope someone know how to fix the problem.....

i already have edited the amount of virtual memory to the option - manage by system - and i have changed that on both of my partitions inc the one where leveledit is installed on. by now i got 3070 mb virtual mem i changed this by: right click 'this computer' -- "properties"-- "advanced"-- by prestations "adjust" -- "advanced" -- at the bottom u see virtual memory and u can adjust it.

i realy wanted to know why and what that message means becozz i already tried all the things with virtual memory.

i use windXP pro NL language on c drive i have 4,69 gb availble (not used) on f drive i have 10,2 gb availble (not used) leveledit and all programs are installed on the f drive

1GB of RAM memory and a 2,2 GHTZ processor

video memory is 128mb

grtz,

Ignorance can be tolerated, posting the exact same post in several threads, many more then a year old, deserves a ban, or at least a severe kick in the ass.

What I don't understand is how this guy can have the ability to find these threads, but not actually read them to get his answer.

That's not why I said that joke. He was bumping topics from the black hole that is RenForums every few seconds. If you look at the other topics you will see the gradual joke to this one.

Question:

Why do forum goers get mad when someone makes a thread about something that there already is a thread of? They tell the person to "use the search feature"

And then when someone does use the search feature to find the topic they need, they post in it, then they get yelled at for bumping an old topic?

It is a lose-lose situation, and I'm confused to why this is so..

Because the topic they posted in had the answer to their question?

IMO I think that people should use the search feature to try and find the solution to their problem. If 404 then they can make a new thread but they sure as hell don't bump 5 old threads with the same question in all of them.

Bumping one thread isn't really hurting anything (except our original order of business) but making a clean thread wont hurt anybody, the post count stays the same.

EDIT: @ Cpo64 <- that too

thx for the tip..
but it didnt work for me when i was on step 7 on that tutorial i did saved my lvl, and when i re-opened that lvl, it comes up with the same

"out of memory" error

and when i did not create any "human path generator" on my map, and saved -- then i can re-open the map without any problem, but when i do the generate sectors....out of memory appears..

lol i am still searching for anyone who know how to fix it

What size is your map? If its using more than 1gb of RAM then it must be MASSIVE, and would probably lag like heck anyway.

the size of the leveledit mod package is 115 mb i have lots of saves like:

save1 --- to save 8

when i did create the human path find things on my map, the map wont re-open and gives the "out of memory error..."

and in the early saves i did not had all waypaths and have not created the human path find things, but then the map can be opened, but it can not generate sectors..

what do i have to send?? the save 8.ldd

save 8.lsd

save 8.lvl

they cant be send by this forum too big in size

i will contact u on yohoo messenger (never used it btw) oh end i have tryed the "LevelEdit_Jonwil" update but it didnt fixed it Size as in width and length of the terrain. 200x200 units? 400x400?

EDIT

Oh, and make sure you close ALL other programs that are running, that will make sure the maximum possible amount of memory is free for Level Edit to use.
