He agreed to not inject into Renguard. Not stop making RGH. Something he has kept his word to. I know that isn't the write description but I'm tired and the right word isn't comming into my brain. You get the idea.

He is still allowed on the forums because banning him does no good and he is actually very helpfull to people that have problems with renguard.

Why don't you stop posting that since our standard is not to lock topics unless there is sever need to.

Also, just because you see others doing it on forums doesn't mean you will be original here.

This has been discussed before. He hasn't broken any forum rules at all. Although he makes cheats, he doesn't advertise them here or on any other site affiliated with BHS. And unlike most he even provides positive feedback for people's problems.

Until he starts breaking rules he has just as much right to be here as anyone else.

That's just ignorant.

Stop the problem at the source, remove the cheat maker.

What source? His ability to post on these boards has absolutely nothing to do with his cheats...

I dont think banning him (from the forums) will fix anything...

Yeah people were insisting that he be banned from XWIS as well, even though he doesn't even play the game, nor log into it.
