What probly happend when you were on the winning team you had less points then most your team mates, then when you were on the loseing team, you did realy bad, there for losing points.

If you are last place of the winning you get 0 points
If you are first place of the losing team you get 0 points

I agree with Cpo64 but we can check when WOL is back online if you give me your WOL name.

I lost like 4000 in rank the other day in like 4hours. I guess in those 4hrs LOTS of ppl played and moved up past me. Before my massive drop I was around 2000 then when I came back later to play again I was @ over 6000

The ranking system does not always reflect the players true ability...

Never under-estimate the lower ranked especially in sniper games.

that guys wants to know how the ranking system works, then tell hi how it works. I thought u guys here on this forum were pro's but the answers that u give people are sometimes just to stupid.

The ranks get resettted after every month. Check ur rank when a new month starts and u will see that u have no rank yet but there is a score which sais 10000. When u go in a game and win, behind ur name at the end there is a score for example +128
Now u quit renegade and u after a half our or something u go check again, u log in (go to the advanced game listing, and press esc to go back to ur rank) and now the score will be: 10128.
The ranking systems checks every score of eacht player and bases his rank on it. The player with the highest score will have rank 1, the player with the second highest score will have rank 2 etc etc.
Wins or losses have nothing to do with your rank, well, maybe it matters when players both have the same score.
The thing that sucks in this ranking system is, is that you have to play on 30-60 player servers to get points. So high ranked players are mostly just point wh0res. I only play in small servers because in big servers you are just pounding at buildings for 30 minutes and there is no strategy at all. No sneaking in the enemy base because with 60 players they will ALWAYS spot you. when u win u should get 100 points, in every game from 6 players total to 127 players total. 4 players total would be to easy to get dummy accounts and play against yourself.

Ok, yah, all right. First of all, the person asked why after winning 6 games, and losing 1 how they could have a lower score, I explained it to them, they understood, it was over...

More then 15 days later, you come up, telling us that we don't know what we are talking about, then write a big paragraph about something that does not answer the persons question. Start bitching about the ranking system, and so on and so forth.

Why?

What was the point?

Do you feel special now? Because you helped out a person (who was happy with their answer) while all the other "pro's" could not? (Even though they did?)

Did you know you could make over 30,000 ladder points in 1, 30 minute game.

A bunch of low ranked n00bs should do this a couple days before the ladder is reset.

Just make a 40player server. You score 1 point the rest of the people on your do nothing. every 121seconds everyone on your team, apart from you, quit and a new 19 people join.. then after another 121 seconds they all leave and another new group of 19 people join.

By the end of the 30 minutes you'll have 266 people who played on your team. Your one point will score you about 30,000 ladder points. Do it twice and you'd have over 70,000 ladder points. More than enough to dominate the month. And everyone who got joined then left 121seconds later will also get huge ladder points.

Quote:Never under-estimate the lower ranked especially in sniper games.

So true, only 1 point for a one shot kill. When your a sniper you kinda have to rely on the harvester for your income. I am usually ranked lower with like 35 kills and under 1000 points cause if I Snipe the whole game, that only accounts for 35 points Aside from C4ing the harv and repairing others.

The guys before me were all guessing how it could be and offering suggestions that u didn't even knew for sure. I explained him the whole ranking system so he can see for himself why that is possible.
