In short, they're better than most veterans will credit them for, but much worse than n00bs think they are. I don't think the cost is justified. They should have been made just slightly faster (I think you can run faster than them) and just slightly stronger, but not enough to be overpowered. Just all IMO.

I don't know why you guys call those topic spam. I merely gave my opinions. Really, spam is like topics like this, "Give me ur opinions on mammies!" My topics actually has my opinions and tactics. btw: I don't think normal users can merge... plus if i posted in the mrl topic with my opinion on a light, it'd be offtopic. I didn't really think i was going to make another topic when i made the first one.

As for mammy. It's too slow and a huge target. If no one's repairing it, it'll die pretty fast. But ofcourse it has it's bonuses a pretty long time to kill unless a bunch of people are attacking it. And great for camping when you're defending against a rush.

Oh noes someone let the silly people in

I think mammoth tanks are good for rushing the obby if in a mass for 3-4, otherwise, they are just good for camping as defense or sitting and ripping the enemy base apart when their defense is down

Whatever spammer. Anyway, mammy are good for camping, they are poor for air cover but if there is an enemy vech within range the mammys TUSK missiles can turn them into scrap metal. Today I was playing a game, I was a mammy and there was a hotty reaping me. NOD did a flamer rush of about 6 flamers, and I took them out all with the tusk missiles. They must have been nOObs. Well, the cannons are great for long range assults. But I think people mostly use the TUSK missiles. Anyway it is to slow and it should be faster, at least running speed. Funny having a nod techie chasing after you and you have like 15 hp left, you saying back off lamo, and they outrun the mammy and kill you.

another thing you need to consider is that mammy's are so big that if your playing on a confined map like islands no one can get around if you have a mammy right in the middle of the entrance.

WRONG!!!!!!! SBH can run around the reverse side of where the turret is pointing. Then by the time you spin the turret they are fully cloaked and you lose them Mammy's can be deadly once they are in your base... on the long-range term they ofcourse are the under dog because they are verry slow..

More firepower? You're kidding, right? NOTHING in the game packs more firepower then a Mammoth Tank's Tusk Missles. Not even MLRS or MobArts.

Mammys are a wonderful vech, considering they have the distinction of being the fastest ones to take down a building, even if they are the slowest ones in getting there.

Try it. Have a race between an MLRS shooting rockets at a building and a mammy using Tusk Missles at different one, and see who finishes up first. The mammy should win by about 8 seconds, taking slightly more than 2/3 the time it would take the MLRS.
