Laubi needed me to make this helicopter model for his mod, It's the Dragon Fly...I just have to add the machine gun tomorrow and I can hand it over to Laubi.The Screens:Screen 1, Screen 2, Screen 3It's 972 polygons, and took between 1 hour and 1.5 hours.What do you all think???(What it looks like in real life:Dragon Fly: 1, Dragon Fly: 2, Dragon Fly: 3)

The top rotor blades are a bit thick. Other than that looks good.

He might as well rename his mod to anything but Red Alert... Because it doesn't look like it at all.

The thing that sticks all the way up in the back?That wing is small enough that noone would notice or care about a change that small.

how exactly does the tail not look correct?If you have seen one of these things up close, then you know that the blades are very thin. And the tail does not look like tail. More like a block on a block.But it your model, do as you wish.
