PFFftt easy. Head on over to the avast home page. Download Avast! It is possibly the best anti-virus on the web today. Second, if the problem persists then you should register at the Avast forum and they will take care of you.

Avast! Homepage : <http://www.avast.com/>

P.S. Norton is junk

P.P.S. Switch to linux

P.P.P.S. Why are you posting on a renegade mod forum for help with your virus. it's called google my friend. Use it.

Google for

"antivirus online scan"

There are scanners that don't need to be installed (well, they partially do but still).

Try housecall from Trend Micro, its an online version of their PC-Cillin anti-virus, but might be able to run when you can't actually install an anti-virus program.

Look, Just last week I revived a computer that had over 300 trojans on it. Everything under the sun was going wrong with this computer. Using Avast! and Knoppix S-T-D tools i was able to get this PC back up and working and now it's blazing fast. Avast! is one of the most powerful anti-virus tools on the market my friend. The virus database updates daily, it scans your memory constantly. And if i virus is detected it'll take care of it. Not only that but it also features a boot time scan.

I told you what You need to know to fix your problem, take it or leave it.

BTW, you wanna know the cold hard truth when it comes to viruses? There is no cure-all, Not your shitty ass norton or even avast! for that matter. These are tools that should keep your computer standing, but you need to learn how to find and take care of these things yourself.

Wow....so you dont even use any antivirus at all? thats even stupider, I bet you have 69739 thousand viruses on your PC, download avg anti virus, do a full system scan, and tell us what happens.

Dont waste your time, all we can do is supply him with a link to avg since it uses less system power than nortons and it is free, works better, and have updates daily, that or nod32
