I was working on this for a while. Never finished it and it needs a lot of work to actually become something. I don't intend on finishing it, but I was wondering if someone wanted the .max file and all the textures.

My idea was to make a scary map that actually made you scared. I was going to have a safe house where you spawned and then you would go ghost/demon/spirit/zombie hunting. I was going to have some flying orbs, very faint see through characters walking around that couldn't be interacted with. Some scary looking statues and a lot of scary noises. I started off with great detail then I got to the point where I lost interest and then started to half-ass things.

Looks like an awesome map, really atmospheric. I could get it put into Apocalypse Rising and APB as an infantry only map if you like. It would work well since we can make Ai ghosts to roam around.

Who would want to fight for a Haunted house? I'd run the fuck outta' there. >.<

This map would be well good for one of the lost Command and Conquer modes where you gotta hunt the players and turn them, like zombie mod in css.

That should be a script. When someone from team X kills someone with weapon on team Y, change them to team X.

I don't know much about the Ren engine, but that should be pretty easy to do.

Well if you want the files send me and email and I'll email you back with the zip. It's pretty big it has a lot of textures but most of them aren't even used in the map, its just a small collection of textures I have that I thought would be good for this map. The zip is 41mb.

Add m00_Disable_Physical_Collision and JFW_Flying_Infantry to the ghost and then make it follow a way-path without path finding.... somehow.

To change teams attach JFW_Death_Send_Custom (I think you spell it like that) And send it to a daves arrow with JFW_Change_Team_Custom.
