Yes, it's called a belief system. If someone insults your beliefs, it makes complete sense to try and defend your beliefs. You know, the same way Republicans try and defend the Iraq War.

I think that Agnostic basically means you believe there is a higher power, but do not believe in any certain god or higher power; basically you don't know what the higher power is.

Interesting, I've also asked for proof. Though have yet to receive any kind of proof either for OR against. However, my "God detector" (no, not the kind being sold at that site) remains at yes.

I, as a believer, welcome ANY attempt to prove God doesn't exist. I have yet to see that happen, and it never will.

It never will because it is a belief. God cannot be proven to exist and God cannot be proven to not exist. Because it is a belief; you believe there is a god.

As an example in the same way, I can say that there are alien motherhips out there. You cannot prove or disprove that either because it would be my stubborn belief that they (the aliens) are out there. So, I welcome ANY attempt to prove the aliens are not there.

It is a belief.

QFT

Simply for the sake of argument, let's assume this is true (though I have yet to see proof of it being a type of mind control). This deals with the existence of God... how?

Subject: Re: God responds to lawsuit

Simple. Religion was created in order to exploit the human's natural desire to know "why am I here?", "where did I come from?" and "what happens when I die?" (and other things as well, essentially the "god of the gaps" argument to explain anything that isn't yet explained by science or understood by the person giving the argument) in the attempt to ensure that said human will do only good things. Very few people controlling a vast majority of them with the promise of the eternal reward of heaven and the eternal punishment of hell for those who don't obey.

(Heh, I didn't intend for this to get into a full argument - I was going to leave it alone after the last comment, but since it's not in the heated discussions section.... why not?)

I say again, this deals with God's existence... how?

Ok, some people use religion as an excuse to have an answer to everything, and others use it as a controlling factor. This offers nothing related to the existence of God. Even if those were to be true, it does not preclude the existence God... just that those people are using him as a means to an end.

Perhaps, you meant this as means of "proof" for religion being a mind control factor? Sorry, your statement is anything but proof. After all, people attribute Renguard to you, Crimson, yet that is false. (I shall call this the "Crimson of the Gap") Therefore Crimson, I am sorry to tell you, but you do not exist.

Just to think hundreds, If not thousands of years ago (Well 2000 years ago anyway.) We had people running around, stealing, killing, etc etc, And a bunch of guys wanted to stop it all.

But how? Let's scare them, So you write a book, Give it one hell of a story, And viola.

the 10 commandments.

Thou shall not steal, etc. If they do all these 10 commandments, repent for there sins, they get a awesome afterlife !

To think we're here now, So I guess it worked eh? But now we have the law, and people to enforce the law, So religion is just something you believe in now.

I really don't mind if you believe on God, And I'm not here to stop you, Or insult you for believing, But there is one thing I ask, Don't try and force it on me.

There is one thing that I don't like about Christianity though. It is that your able to be forgiven.

So basically, if your a Christian, you can go out and kill like 30 people, then go to church, confess your sin, and boom, your forgiven. :\

But a christian honestly won't do that... and if one did, he/she would not be forgiven if one doesn't mean the apology. Meaning, deep in that one's mind, while asking for forgivenes... is probably thinking "after I ask, I go kill more people!"

or at least that's my theory.

Will people please read the bible? I don't care if you don't believe in it but at least come in here with a decent sense of what it is you're talking about. Hell, Just read the New testament, it isn't that long.

I understand if you decide you don't want to believe in it, but don't argue that my religion is fake when you don't even take the time to know what it's about.

Sorry for the short rant, but that really bugs me sometimes.
