Reading from address 0x00000000 = null pointer. If you are using a version of scripts.dll you have modified yourself ensure your pointers are all actually pointing to something before trying to use them.

That's odd that you didn't edit the scripts.dll file yet it's still causing a crash...

It's crashing while getting the translated preset name of some object. Can I see your LUA file?
You might be using a bad preset somewhere.

if i knew what lua file..
lua works with multiple files.
ive got almost all weapons, vehicles, characters and many other things in seperate lua files, to browse them all would take a very long time.. maybe if you have a spare minute, add me on msn: wittebolx@wittebolx.com so we can chat on there, i hate to upload my complete Lua to a Forum.

thx for helping
