After working 1 month on my armor, it is done, I dont have pictures of the suit on me, But I have a pic of me wearing the detailed and finished helmet, I couldnt get the armor on my body with velcro, so I'm going to have to use a strap system for it to work out right.

I don't play Halo, nor get that 'fan stuff' , but that's a quality piece right there.

Nice work.

I couldnt wear the entire suit for halloween yesterday (our city passes out candy 1 day early for some reason)

But i wore the chest, crotch and helmet, and gloves, everyone recognized me, I had these 3 11 yo kids come and when they walked up my drive way one said "OMG MASTERCHIEF, GUYS COME QUICK" then they were all acting like fanboys and asking where I got the suit, what it costed, I said I didnt buy it, I made it, and they said that must have been hard, they sat there forever talking to me. Finally they left and said "YA, BEST COSTUME EVER, NO ONE IN OHIO IS MASTERCHIEF FOR HALLOWEEN, GOOO MASTERCHIEF, YOU ROCK!"

Btw, for those who own a legendary helmet, my helmet is more detailed, and can be seen out of perfectly like wearing sunglasses, people cant see me, but I see them.

How? It is made according to the actual helmet, it's about 80-90 percent accurate, paint being one thing not accurate, the other being the visor and it's shape, I used a motorcycle visor, which in the end isnt as rounded as the chief's, his bugs out, mine slightly bugged out, but not enough.

Hi Frost, what is the weight of the cardstock you used for this helmet? Or is it just regular paper?

Just a bit curious because paper modelling is a side hobby of mine.

I made a whole dang suit of armor with this, if you want the site PM me, It has tutorials and lots of help, I'm a member there too, 110lb cardstock is what I used. HJC gold visor 38 dollars off ebay, total cost for the armor was 160 dollars.

The helmet is now resin and fiberglass, it is rock hard and can withstand most blows or impact.

Can we see a pic of the body of the armor? It doesn't have to be on you, I am just curious to see what it looks like.

Helmet

front torso

Back torso

crotch peice

Everything on the floor

My ODST project I am working on

Just need a helmet, resin/glassing and paint, this could be done in one week while the mc suit a month.

The helmet's usually what a lot of people can't quite get, but from the looks of it you pretty much nailed it.

Go email the guy at halo.bungie.org if you haven't already. They love this kind of thing.

Sorry to double post but...

GET READY FOR THE MEGA UPDATE

All i did was hotglue straps to the peices, I need to use buckles or velcro to connect to torso to the crotch peice, arms are strapped to torso and fit me easily and comfy, same for legs (omg I can teabag comfortably) so far, just connecting the 2 peices now I havent done yet

Note : the pics were taken before i strapped the arms to the torso.

Close up of paintjob and strapping

Super robo pants

Frosts opinion on this: leet

Well, hopefully, someone, someday, somewhere, will create a Mask of Helgast as well.
