Iv'e been playing on the 'wolspy noobstories AOW' server for the last year on my home computer, but have recently started to use another computer to play Renegade

On this other computer there are about 20 servers that i know exist missing (including noobstories) from gamespy's list of Renegade servers

Why is this and how do i get gamespy to list all servers

Thanks in advance

Sgipo

i am having the exact same problem. i have Renegade on 2 computers. one has {WolfSpy} noobstories in gamespy and the other doesnt. i have copied everything from the other computer including all the maps and the Gamespy directory and the game is still missing.

I don't see a logical explanation for this. Seems like a gamespy problem.

Maybe you can try using WOL (now known as xwis)? Most servers on gamespy are also on WOL.

Check the sticky in this subforum for more info on getting a nick for WOL.
