As a beta tester there was a little secret about generals there was a mission as the GLA where the point was to kill as many civilians as possible with anthrax it was removed after all the hype about chem weapons.

Just a tid bit of information for those who didnt know.

I love your signature picture ...

I am glad they removed that mission that would have caused quite a stir.

That bites. It sounds like a real challenge. Having to drive those tractors around avoiding the powerful chinese defences and swooping in quickly to get the job done. I mean Warcraft 3 has the mission where you need to kill 100 civilians. And how much trouble did they get into. But then again that religious group got angry at the golden temple level in Hitman 2. But still I am sure alot of chinese get butchered in the US and GLA campains as it is.

BlazerAre you related to Aircraftkiller?

What makes you ask that? I don't see anyway they could be related.

am I on the wrong forums or is this thread on the wrong forums?

Shouldn't this be on the Generals boards?

Maybe so... but it's still something interesting to know.

I don't see any connection between the two that would make Blazer say that. They're more total opposites than similar. One's name is based off of the Air Force, the other is based off of AAA/SAM/Etc., one can't spell, the other one can, one has an F-22 Raptor (stealth fighter), the other has an F-15 Eagle, etc.

So Why Bitch about it not being there and make your own?

i mean we got people who can make mission maps.. That whould be great if someone Remade it..
With some Added Stuff like Battlemasters Blocking Roadways and Overlords near Important places Like.. A Mall?
