Well, a friend of my just got Rengade and would of course like to play it online.

But he cant make a new name, how is this done?

Well, when I made my name I just could create new user ore something like that.

And I must say that this game is still fun

Search is a wonderful thing, like google.

In the login screen, type a username and password and click login, if you get a server list, you good to play, if you don't get a server list, that means the username you entered is already been taken, so go back and think of a other name.

I tryed searching for it, but didn't came very far.

Well, we can play it now, thanks

And I still like the game so much actuly, and I never found one like it. It is that you can change a lot, well I mean when you host a server. still din't find 1 where you could.
