Why would you register on the renegade forums to ask how to get hitman runing?

No, it's called "General Discussions"...

IE: Discussions about anything, including Renegade.

Not, "Please help me with this game that has nothing to do with this forum"...

That's what "Other" in "Technical Help" is for...

I agree as well.

Who here uses the Other forum?

And why are you taking badly of him just because he subscribed to this forum for that one question? That means he's heard this is a knowledgeable community. Or he googled forum and chose something random.

Edit: Also note the icons for WW games on his desktop.

Can we stop with the flaming, flaming goes in the spam section, I do agree this should go in the "Other" section it is a common mistake, that does not mean to start a flame war on other peoples threads.

lie...

Now ask anyone how old I am and you'll be told I'm 18, that I do infact live at home, but upstairs in my room. I have a girlfriend who in fact would be my definition of normal, and I don't spend all day on this site like you seem to do*.

*notice how long I have been here and how few posts I have compared to you and others.

This game does not support windows vista, and as of October 2003, Eidos interactive no longer supports this game. In short, either install Windows XP and dual boot or go out and buy Hitman Blood Money.

edit: Nevermind you already own the game, so why are you playing Hitman: Codename 47 again?

He's not playing Codename 47. He meantioned somewhere he was playing Contracts.

Although he also said "the first one", and that IS codename 47...I dunno.
