Yes I have, but what does that have to do with anything? How would a device used to perform or facilitate manual or mechanical work have anything to do with this thread? The same question with a person who carries out the designs of another; a dupe. How would those 2 definitions pertain to this thread? If you are calling me a "tool" using the second definition I have here, then I would ask you, to whom am I being a tool?

And cow, I may have made it a little difficult to understand, but I meant that flyingfox is too big of a moron to get what I said so TnTANDY was only pointing out what I meant to flyingfox.

flyingfoxA tool to the joke of course.

What joke? Are you saying that you were acting n00bish on purpose so as to make a few laughs? If so, that didn't work because people believed you were that big of a moron. I certainly did.

If you're gonna joke around, at least state it as such or talk in excessive n00b speak so we understand that you are joking. There ARE that big of idiots in these forums who are stupid enough to say what you did and talk in all caps.

If you were actually serious about the "DEV IS BACK..." shit, then I still don't see what "joke" to which I am a "tool."

Yes, and that's the funny part.

Sometimes, something is just not funny unless you act serious. It's like a prank phone call for example. You act like you really want to buy xxx videos from a corner shop or something. The shopkeeper is like "no, sorry, we don't stock those here but you could try movieworld a few blocks down, it's a good one." And you reply "Is it? Cuz I could really go for some hot action I swear I'm dying here!"

Of course, this doesn't really have any place in "tactics and strategies"

But prank calling is only a joke to YOU and possibly your friends who are all huddled around chuckling at you calling because they don't have the balls to do it themselves.

Making it so that only YOU see it as a joke makes you look like a moron to everyone else. Saying, "D3V 1Z B4K!!!!!!!!!!!!!!11111111oneoneone!!!!11one!!" would not be funny either, but it still would have shown that you aren't a moron who actually thinks that Dev is back. Plus, you could have at least let us know that it was a joke a couple of posts later instead of when you're flat out called a moron and then ask, "ever heard of a tool?"

You're a tool to stupidity.

It's funny when folk like you believe someone is that stupid, even when presented with simple reason. You never stopped to think I was having a laugh at your expense, and for that, you are a tool of my joke. You didn't even do a simple search on my name based on the fact that if I was that stupid, I'd have been banned before I reached 3 hundred and 50 fucking posts.

Here's another example, just ask clan FUD about this. Someone from FUD made a Renegade name called mogadishu, in response to attitudes people from n00bstories.com take to stories.

Here's the quote, you can read the whole thing here

http://www.n00bstories.com/n00bfile\_view.php?id=3880&search=mogadishu

Quote:I'd also like to comment on how easy it was to manipulate you all. I guess it was the day after I was reported for the first time. September 24th, 2002. I, with the help of Java, had embarked on an experiment. He had commented to me about the lack of general mental fortitude amongst the community, and I thought with the previous day's event, that it would be a good time to put his claim to the test.

So I created a character whose personality and demeanour reflected what I saw in the community at noobstories. That character was 'Mogadishu' (who reported taskbot7 as a moderator who treated him unfairly). Sure, Mogadishu was a bit of an exaggeration, a caricature, if you will, but I figured almost for certain that some of you would recognize he was a parody of yourselves, and peg Mogadishu as a fraud.

However, to my surprise and delight, the result was exactly the opposite. There was a massive uproar. You all gawked at how stupid you thought the person was that didn't really exist. Also, I used a screenshot of myself telling Mogadishu to fuck off as a vehicle to portray myself as someone who you would admire, and sure enough, you fell for it. Seemingly overnight taskbot fan-boys were born (amazing how far we've come, isn't it?). One tool even went as far as to make 'Magic cards' depicting me as a hero, and Mogadishu as a retard. (refer to the end for links to the items mentioned above) It was then I knew for certain that truly, you are all a lower order.

They thought mogadishu was a moron; does that make taskbot7 a moron for making people believe it?

I'd rather be a tool to stupidity than a total jackass.

So you were laughing at the fact that I saw you as a stupid moron? And as for your simple reason, I never said I didn't believe that, it was just a stupid reason to act like you knew nothing. I infact could say the same thing, that I was just using you as a tool. Wow, nice joke. And you wouldn't be banned, Alkaline lasted here for a LONG time with well over 350 posts.

You call me a jackass, but I wasn't the only one who practically saying the same thing. I was being the most civilized.
