
Subject: What are you views on this?

Posted by Chimp on Wed, 09 Jan 2008 07:33:26 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What are your views on online dating?

My daughter has begun developing an online relationship with a 13 year old boy. He has multiple pictures, and she's spoken to him on the phone before, as well as webcam. I look at the chatlogs after they speak, and the computer is down in the kitchen, and hes appears to be a nice kid. However, do I seem like I'm doing the wrong thing?

What is your opinion on letting children have friends or even BF/GF's online?

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Ryu on Wed, 09 Jan 2008 07:44:54 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

As long as your mature and over the age of 16, go for it.

Don't let myspace pictures trick you though.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by renohol on Wed, 09 Jan 2008 07:45:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well my views r very dim, my ex left me for a dude who smokes and owns several guns which she would not allow me to do.

I heard from her every 2 weeks or so up until August and havn't heard from her since and fear the worst , so buyer beware.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Jecht on Wed, 09 Jan 2008 10:25:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm against it - for younger people at least. People online are nameless and faceless. She is certainly at risk for predators. Since she's started I wouldn't necessarily tell her that she can't anymore, but you might want to request to see chat logs and educate her about the risks involved. She is 13 though, so she may or may not listen.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Spoony on Wed, 09 Jan 2008 13:13:29 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

all I can say is, if they end up meeting then make damn sure you're there

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?
Posted by Blazer on Wed, 09 Jan 2008 14:50:38 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

There is no "love" when you are 13. Any boy after a 13 year old girl is interested in one thing...and you know what that is. I'm sure that SHE thinks she is in "love" with him, but I would bet that he is either infatuated or just strings her along while telling his buddies about the newest "camslut" he has on the line.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?
Posted by KIRBY-098 on Wed, 09 Jan 2008 15:32:54 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

For the safety of your kid, end it NOW.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?
Posted by CarrierII on Wed, 09 Jan 2008 15:35:41 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Blazer wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 14:50There is no "love" when you are 13. Any boy after a 13 year old girl is interested in one thing...and you know what that is. I'm sure that SHE thinks she is in "love" with him, but I would be that he is either infatuated or just strings her along while telling his buddies about the newest "camslut" he has on the line.

my friend started a relationship when she was underage, the guy abused her. She has major issues with self confidence etc. Make sure the guy is trustworthy.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?
Posted by Chimp on Wed, 09 Jan 2008 15:56:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Jecht wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 04:25I'm against it - for younger people at least. People online are nameless and faceless. She is certainly at risk for predators. Since she's started I wouldn't necessarily tell her that she can't anymore, but you might want to request to see chat logs and educate her about the risks involved. She is 13 though, so she may or may not listen.

Well, like I said, I DO see her chatlogs, and the computer is in the kitchen, so I always know whats going down. I don't have a problem with them talking, or even meeting up IRL, as long as I'm there to oversee it, and there to be with her when/if she meets him.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by cheesesoda on Wed, 09 Jan 2008 17:10:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Online dating is absolutely pointless. Rare occasions that it ever works out. I've been in 2 failed ones, I know of a long distance/online relationship that ended recently, and I know of another one that ended well over a year ago. If it's not going to work at my age, it WILL NOT work at 13, and I see no reason girls that age should be "dating", anyway.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by trooprm02 on Wed, 09 Jan 2008 17:18:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

pedophile much? I wish child services would see this...

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Dover on Wed, 09 Jan 2008 17:39:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Blazer wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 06:50 There is no "love" when you are 13. Any boy after a 13 year old girl is interested in one thing...and you know what that is. I'm sure that SHE thinks she is in "love" with him, but I would be that he is either infatuated or just strings her along while telling his buddies about the newest "camslut" he has on the line.

That's not very nice, Blazer. I remember being in love when I was 13. I might have been 14, actually, but who's counting?

MWright967 wrote on Tue, 08 January 2008 23:33 What are your views on online dating?

My daughter has begun developing an online relationship with a 13 year old boy. He has multiple pictures, and she's spoken to him on the phone before, as well as webcam. I look at the chatlogs after they speak, and the computer is down in the kitchen, and hes appears to be a nice kid. However, do I seem like I'm doing the wrong thing?

What is your opinion on letting children have friends or even BF/GF's online?

It's safe to assume your daughter hasn't had an IRL boyfriend? If she has, she'd know that the two are nothing alike, and one beats the other out by far.

I mean, she's still young, and I guess she'll be wanting to experiment like this (Or just plain doesn't know any better). If you oversee the entire thing I guess there isn't much of a problem, but your daughter is setting herself up for disapointment.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Chimp on Wed, 09 Jan 2008 18:18:38 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dover wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 11:39Blazer wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 06:50There is no "love" when you are 13. Any boy after a 13 year old girl is interested in one thing...and you know what that is. I'm sure that SHE thinks she is in "love" with him, but I would be that he is either infatuated or just strings her along while telling his buddies about the newest "camslut" he has on the line.

That's not very nice, Blazer. I remember being in love when I was 13. I might have been 14, actually, but who's counting?

MWright967 wrote on Tue, 08 January 2008 23:33What are your views on online dating?

My daughter has begun developing an online relationship with a 13 year old boy. He has multiple pictures, and she's spoken to him on the phone before, as well as webcam. I look at the chatlogs after they speak, and the computer is down in the kitchen, and hes appears to be a nice kid. However, do I seem like I'm doing the wrong thing?

What is your opinion on letting children have friends or even BF/GF's online?

It's safe to assume your daughter hasn't had an IRL boyfriend? If she has, she'd know that the two are nothing alike, and one beats the other out by far.

I mean, she's still young, and I guess she'll be wanting to experiment like this (Or just plain doesn't know any better). If you oversee the entire thing I guess there isn't much of a problem, but your daughter is setting herself up for disapointment.

Thats part of the reason that I'm letting her do it. I want her to be able experience it before dating REAL boys. I've tried to teach her as best I can about how to be safe on a date and what to expect, and not to have sex until shes older, but I can only do so much, and hope that she makes the right decision.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Ethenal on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 02:39:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Spoony wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 07:13all I can say is, if they end up meeting then make damn sure you're there

That's probably the best damn advice you're going to find, though I agree with Blazer as well.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Blazer on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 02:59:41 GMT

Dover wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 10:39Blazer wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 06:50There is no "love" when you are 13. Any boy after a 13 year old girl is interested in one thing...and you know what that is. I'm sure that SHE thinks she is in "love" with him, but I would be that he is either infatuated or just strings her along while telling his buddies about the newest "camslut" he has on the line.

That's not very nice, Blazer. I remember being in love when I was 13. I might have been 14, actually, but who's counting?

I'm sorry that the FACT that teenage boys are horndogs offends you. I too remember being in "love" when I was 13. I also remember wanting to fuck anything that moved, including the object of my desire. Young kids are bursting with hormones and are all but incapable of being "friends".

Also, there is the very real danger of pedophiles who know exactly how to social engineer young kids to come and meet them, and the next day they are a news story.

TBH 13 is WAY too young to be in a relationship anyhow, for the reasons I stated above and more. Yeah lots of girls mature faster than boys, and a 13 year old girl may know what shes doing, but who is she really talking to on the other end? A horndog boy who wants to sweettalk his way into her panties? A 50 year old pedo who wants to take naked pictures of her? Do you really want to chance that with your child?

If it was a neighbor kid IRL that seemed okay it might be different, but theres no way I would trust kids on the internet, as I said you don't even know if its a kid, its just a screenname and who knows who they really are or what their intentions are.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Dover on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 03:05:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Blazer wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 18:59Dover wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 10:39Blazer wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 06:50There is no "love" when you are 13. Any boy after a 13 year old girl is interested in one thing...and you know what that is. I'm sure that SHE thinks she is in "love" with him, but I would be that he is either infatuated or just strings her along while telling his buddies about the newest "camslut" he has on the line.

That's not very nice, Blazer. I remember being in love when I was 13. I might have been 14, actually, but who's counting?

I'm sorry that the FACT that teenage boys are horndogs offends you. I too remember being in "love" when I was 13. I also remember wanting to fuck anything that moved, including the object of my desire. Young kids are bursting with hormones and are all but incapable of being "friends".

Also, there is the very real danger of pedophiles who know exactly how to social engineer young kids to come and meet them, and the next day they are a news story.

TBH 13 is WAY too young to be in a relationship anyhow, for the reasons I stated above and more. Yeah lots of girls mature faster than boys, and a 13 year old girl may know what shes doing, but who is she really talking to on the other end? A horndog boy who wants to sweettalk his way into her panties? A 50 year old pedo who wants to take naked pictures of her? Do you really want to chance that with your child?

If it was a neighbor kid IRL that seemed okay it might be different, but theres no way I would trust kids on the internet, as I said you don't even know if its a kid, its just a screenname and who knows who they really are or what their intentions are.

No, I get what you're saying. Don't get me wrong.
All I'm saying is, love is possible at 13. Yes, love, not "love".

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?
Posted by Rocko on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 05:31:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

i've met many women on adultfriendfinder.com

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?
Posted by luv2pb on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 18:14:08 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I once flew to phoenix to visit people for a week I meet on the internet. Then blazer said he didn't "love" me and left me out of the credits ...

^true.story

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?
Posted by Chimp on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 18:24:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

luv2pb wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 12:14 I once flew to phoenix to visit people for a week I meet on the internet. Then blazer said he didn't "love" me and left me out of the credits ...

^true.story

I lol'ed.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?
Posted by Starbuzz on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 18:25:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Good thing about online relationships is that it is much easier to pull the plug if it goes south.

EDIT: Damned typo.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?
Posted by Carrierll on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 19:05:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dover wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 03:05Blazer wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 18:59Dover wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 10:39Blazer wrote on Wed, 09 January 2008 06:50There is no "love" when you are 13. Any boy after a 13 year old girl is interested in one thing...and you know what that is. I'm sure that SHE thinks she is in "love" with him, but I would be that he is either infatuated or just strings her along while telling his buddies about the newest "camslut" he has on the line.

That's not very nice, Blazer. I remember being in love when I was 13. I might have been 14, actually, but who's counting?

I'm sorry that the FACT that teenage boys are horndogs offends you. I too remember being in "love" when I was 13. I also remember wanting to fuck anything that moved, including the object of my desire. Young kids are bursting with hormones and are all but incapable of being "friends".

Also, there is the very real danger of pedophiles who know exactly how to social engineer young kids to come and meet them, and the next day they are a news story.

TBH 13 is WAY too young to be in a relationship anyhow, for the reasons I stated above and more. Yeah lots of girls mature faster than boys, and a 13 year old girl may know what shes doing, but who is she really talking to on the other end? A horndog boy who wants to sweettalk his way into her panties? A 50 year old pedo who wants to take naked pictures of her? Do you really want to chance that with your child?

If it was a neighbor kid IRL that seemed okay it might be different, but theres no way I would trust kids on the internet, as I said you don't even know if its a kid, its just a screenname and who knows who they really are or what their intentions are.

No, I get what you're saying. Don't get me wrong.
All I'm saying is, love is possible at 13. Yes, love, not "love".

I've been just friends, and I mean just friends with several girls (infact, almost exclusively girls for years, boys have just about matured enough to be acceptable company)

1) Yes, I'm a boy

2) yes, I'm straight

Not everyone is a horndog, or incapable of controlling it, Blazer. I might be 17 now, but when I was 13, I saw my friendships with girls as friendships. Not everyone is like me, either. I see where you're coming from Blazer, but that's not true of everyone.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Chimp on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 19:11:42 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Starbuzz wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 13:25 Good thing about online relationships is that it is much easier to pull the plug if it goes south.

EDIT: Damned typo.

Exactly why I'm letting her do this as opposed to going out and having sex with boys my friend

My little girl isn't going to even talk another boy at school until shes 16 by god. I will keep her virgin as long as humanly possible.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by cheesesoda on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 19:47:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yeah, like that'll happen. Next thing you'll know she's fucking some guy on a staircase in the gym. Of course, I'm talking about a couple years from now, but still.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Chimp on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 19:55:41 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

cheesesoda wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 19:47 Yeah, like that'll happen. Next thing you'll know she's fucking some guy on a staircase in the gym. Of course, I'm talking about a couple years from now, but still.

Well, I don't know about you, but I wasn't fucking anyone on the stair case in highschool. My parents taught me, "No sex before marriage". And I abided to it. And now, I have a daughter, and hopefully a son coming up. If I teach them the same way, they're smart enough to do the same.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by cheesesoda on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 20:04:16 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I was taught no sex before marriage, too. Then I got a girlfriend, and that was the end of that goal.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Chimp on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 20:16:39 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

cheesesoda wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 14:04 I was taught no sex before marriage, too. Then I got a girlfriend, and that was the end of that goal.

I'll admit, it was pretty hard. Especially when the girl does the "Lets talk dirty" thing. AKA: Making the boy get too horny for his own.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by GEORGE ZIMMER on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 20:20:02 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Eh. Aslong as she's not getting raped or whatever, it's fine. Even if it ends up in disaster.

People learn things best when they see it with their own eyes. So if she sees that online dating sucks, she'll probably be less apt to do it.

Personally though, online dating CAN work out, aslong as you both live within a reasonable distance between eachother and can drive to eachother once every week or once every other week or so. Sometimes they can end up being better too, if you're able to keep a relationship going through talking instead of sexual desires.

But being 13? Eh. It won't work out, but as I said, let her find out for herself. Another part of being a teenager is pretty much disobeying what everyone says. Someone tells you to stop, you go. Someone tells you to not jump off a cliff, you make a sport named "Cliff jumping".

Well, when they're a parent, anyways.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Carrierll on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 20:42:53 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

MWright967 wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 19:11

Exactly why I'm letting her do this as opposed to going out and having sex with boys my friend

My little girl isn't going to even talk another boy at school until shes 16 by god. I will keep her virgin as long as humanly possible.

That's a bit extreme. Some people prefer the company of the opposite sex, myself included.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Starbuzz on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 20:49:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, you can always avoid relationships since they consume a lot of your time and money.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Chimp on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 21:06:29 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Starbuzz wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 14:49Well, you can always avoid relationships since they consume a lot of your time and money.

Well, that only works to a certain point. Before I met my wife, I had a girlfriend back in highschool. When I was about...13-15, I adopted one of those stupid "Humanity sucks, I'm better than you all" ideas, and didn't care if I had sex. Then the climax of puberty set in around 16-17 and I was ready to tap anything with an ass....Still waited till I was 23, though.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by CarrierII on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 21:20:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

CarrierII wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 20:42MWright967 wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 19:11

Exactly why I'm letting her do this as opposed to going out and having sex with boys my friend

My little girl isn't going to even talk another boy at school until shes 16 by god. I will keep her virgin as long as humanly possible.

That's a bit extreme. Some people prefer the company of the opposite sex, myself included.

response please?

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by cheesesoda on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 21:24:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

MWright967 wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 15:16cheesesoda wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 14:04I was taught no sex before marriage, too. Then I got a girlfriend, and that was the end of that goal.

I'll admit, it was pretty hard. Especially when the girl does the "Lets talk dirty" thing. AKA: Making the boy get too horny for his own.

I'm not so much into the "let's talk dirty" as having the girl being open about sexuality. Saying things regarding being horny and having a little fun in showers and such. I can't resist the power of that.

I was in the whole "I hate the world" phase, but without the whole being angsty and emo moods. Still, that didn't stop me from trying to get somewhere with a few girls here and there.

Edit: Carrier, that's what has me saying, "and then you'll find out she's having sex with a guy on a staircase in the gym."

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Jecht on Thu, 10 Jan 2008 21:44:16 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Virginity is good, but don't count on her staying that way before marriage. Although there are numerous cases of people who take personal vows to stay a virgin until marriage and succeeding, in today's day and age - it's difficult.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Dover on Fri, 11 Jan 2008 02:58:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

MWright967 wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 11:11I will keep her virgin as long as humanly possible.

To what end?

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Chimp on Fri, 11 Jan 2008 04:24:49 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dover wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 20:58MWright967 wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 11:11I will keep her virgin as long as humanly possible.

To what end?

What do you mean to what end? Shes my baby girl, I'm not letting some sweaty little boy violate her. Once you have kids, you'll understand how I feel. Your daughter is your most prized possession in the world.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Dover on Fri, 11 Jan 2008 05:47:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

MWright967 wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 20:24Dover wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 20:58MWright967 wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 11:11I will keep her virgin as long as humanly possible.

To what end?

What do you mean to what end? Shes my baby girl, I'm not letting some sweaty little boy violate her. Once you have kids, you'll understand how I feel. Your daughter is your most prized possession in the world.

That's the creepiest thing I've ever heard. A daughter is not a possession. She's a person, and like other people, she has free will.

You're deluding yourself if you think you're going to be able to exercise absolute control over her. If she turns 16 and decideds she wants to have sex, she's going to have sex, and there's little (Read: nothing) you can do to stop her short of locking her a in a closet. If she wants to have some sweaty little boy violate her, that's her decision to make.

In any case, I fail to see how keeping her a virgin as long as humanly possible is a form of protection. Sex is the most dangerous when you know nothing about it, and in all things, the best way to learn something it to do it. I'm not saying you should encourage your daughter to go out and have as much sex as she can "for the experience", nor do I presume to tell you how to raise your children, but sooner or later, wether you like it or not, chances are your kids are going to be having sex, and it'll be a damned shame if they're clueless at 30.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?

Posted by Starbuzz on Fri, 11 Jan 2008 06:01:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dover, you misunderstand MWright. A similar situation is going on in my home with my sister and my dad. A father's love for his daughter should not be taken as "creepiest" and he did not mean it to be taken literally when he said "possession." Every responsible parent will go through a phase of "concern" when it comes to their children at this point.

I know this because this is happening in my home.

I do understand that there will be a time when children would want to go on their own without any parental guidance (duh).

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?
Posted by Jecht on Fri, 11 Jan 2008 16:08:56 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dover wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 23:47MWright967 wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 20:24Dover wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 20:58MWright967 wrote on Thu, 10 January 2008 11:11I will keep her virgin as long as humanly possible.

To what end?

What do you mean to what end? Shes my baby girl, I'm not letting some sweaty little boy violate her. Once you have kids, you'll understand how I feel. Your daughter is your most prized possession in the world.

That's the creepiest thing I've ever heard. A daughter is not a possession. She's a person, and like other people, she has free will.

You're deluding yourself if you think you're going to be able to exercise absolute control over her. If she turns 16 and decideds she wants to have sex, she's going to have sex, and there's little (Read: nothing) you can do to stop her short of locking her a in a closet. If she wants to have some sweaty little boy violate her, that's her decision to make.

In any case, I fail to see how keeping her a virgin as long as humanly possible is a form of protection. Sex is the most dangerous when you know nothing about it, and in all things, the best way to learn something it to do it. I'm not saying you should encourage your daughter to go out and have as much sex as she can "for the experience", nor do I presume to tell you how to raise your children, but sooner or later, wether you like it or not, chances are your kids are going to be having sex, and it'll be a damned shame if they're clueless at 30.

That's not creepy at all. That's being a good father. If you give up on spreading your morals to your children, then you're a poor parent, and shouldn't have children. Some people DO get married BEFORE they have sex you know. I applaud MWright for the respect he has for his daughter. His concern for what she does tells me he is a good parent.

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?
Posted by Chimp on Fri, 11 Jan 2008 16:37:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I try

Subject: Re: What are you views on this?
Posted by Dover on Fri, 11 Jan 2008 19:42:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think people misunderstood me when I said "creepy". Perhaps it's the wrong word for the situation. In any case, the terminology of "possession" doesn't bother me. I know what MWright967 means. What bothers me is that he's completely ignoring his daughters side of the story.

Spread your morals to her. That's fine. Just be aware that the time is approaching when the decision won't be yours to make anymore.
