Anyone else think the balancing patches for Tiberium wars are making the campaign a lot harder?
It seems like a lot of the time I have nowhere near enough funds. Been having trouble on the first act 3 mission where you have to alternate power between the base defenses. Worst part is when you get the mcv back and they start majorly rushing you. And since when can rocket guys shoot farther than anti infintry base defences? First time I did this mission I beat it without too much trouble :/ .

You're right: it is harder indeed. However, I finished them all on the hardest setting on patch 1.09 so it is definately possible .

Try using basic infantry squad against the rocket soldiers, they kick their *ss.

The stealth tank is ridiculously overpowered at the moment. They pwn the shit out of my Devastator Warship squads. Like 2 of them can wipe out any size fleet I create.

The stanks are really strong, they were pwning my tanks. I went down in difficulty and beat it but I may try it again sometime. Now I'm mostly going against the scrin whihc is also difficult but hasn't been too ridiculous yet...

Good job hopping onto the anti furry bandwagon that you've observed around the forum.

Kindly shoot yourself. I'm no furry, but that was just a ridiculously idiotic thing to say.

I usually throw that in whenever I report one of his spam posts. Which is often.
