A bud of mine had the same problem, my suggestion would be unistall renegade, westwood shared internet componets (prob doesn't change anything but still), then go thro your registry and del the westwood subkey. Then reinstall, but first try the extra config thing, because it has video stuff in it too and might fix it.

If you use Vista and run Renegade in admin mode you must also run the Configuration program in admin mode or the settings get applied to the non-admin mode version of Renegade.
