I tried getting on someone's Hum Vee and i press E or something and i was half body outside the hum vee and i could shoot from there. I was using Sydney and the personal Ion cannon, killed quite a few tanks from there. Wonder if anyone came across this or other vehicles could do the same....

I think it's a bug. You're supposed to be put outside the vehicle but sometimes you end up clipping with the vehicle. I've been trapped halfway inside a vehicle once for about 10-20 seconds while the game fought to resolve my position and finally put me out on the ground. The fact that you were able to shoot and stay that way for awhile would be great if that was how gameplay was intended, but it's not.

Heh, I once ran over a guy in an artillery that was exploiting that. I was confused that I ran over a guy that was in a vehicle, but then found out what was going on.
