Yup, The site has done well to survive, originally owned by iScripters then passed onto me and then laeubi offered the hosting and it has developed a lot from then now with all the cool features you see now and the great job Laeubi did with them.

More tutorials coming soon and also some additions to the FAQ so watch this space

The Renegade auto config isn't working for me, if it isn't just me, can you fix it? I wouldn't mind getting rid of the annoying as hell confirm messages

Translations for tutorials avaiable
I have added a module to Renhelp so it is now possible to add translations for tutorials.
So if you like to see a tutorial in YOUR language... well request it for translation, translate it and it will be added as fast as pssible.
Hope you enjoy the feature.

Update
We have added some new features recently. You will see that the script feature is working great, we will be adding more scripts soon and also the ability for you to submit them.

The tutorials section now has a skill rating system, which displays the difficulty of the tutorial. This will help new modders identify the tutorials that are most suited to them. You will also see the cool icons indication the tutorial type now. If you think a tutorial has been incorrectly rated, please contact one of the adminstrators.

Remember, if you have a tutorial that you want hosted, we have a tutorial submission form where you can submit your tutorial in zip format.

Some new scripts coming up for release in the scripts.dll by Jonathan Wilson soon such as domination mode and other cool things. Happy Modding!

I added another nice feature: Categories
The tutorials are now sortet by categories like Maps, Vehicles etc.
I hope that makes it easier for you to find the tutorial u searched.

It does.... wow its great
 :thumbsup: THUMBS UP :thumbsup:
Now i find the tutorial i need in a sec.... not the only thing you need if you find a mistake in a tutorial..... call it "bug reporting" or something

Sorry about that, the domain expired and hasn't been renewed. However the site is still online at:

http://renhelp.laeubi-soft.de/

Due to me an Laeubi both being at University now we have little time maintain the site. However I'd like to do an update on the server at some point as their are some submitted tutorials that haven't been added yet.
