That was behind my MSN nickname, for like 5 weeks now.
So I was wondering what happend?
Is it comming out? "I hear soon" hear and there but what is soon for me could be long for you..

I am really looking forward to this mod. I played the so called "not comparable release in 2003"

And if the guys at Reborn release it, make sure you release it at a friday night or from thursday to friday. Because I guess I won't be getting alot of sleep when it comes out hehe.

Personally I hope they stop wasting time making an infantry only release and focus on getting the vehicles etc done.

If it is 99% finished as they claim it shouldnt take long.

To release Infantry Only would be nothing but an anticlimax - and a huge let down for the 'Most Hyped Mod'.

Lets Play! Review of APBInfantry Only maps can be a bore.

Meh, an infantry only beta sounds fine to me, aslong as the maps are actually really worth playing, and are alot of fun. I'd love to run around an abandoned town/village that's been taken over by tiberium life forms.

Though, it would be nice to see some light vehicles make the cut (Wolverine, buggy, etc).

Renardin didn't technically say the mod will be out then. I wish he didn't say anything; it only puts more pressure on us testers and (mainly) Dark.

Then you assholes go around complaining about shit when the month isn't even near its end quite yet. If only you knew what sort of crap has to be done that was just left lying around from previous team members. It's like building a skyscraper with tinkertoys.

Yes, it's going to be an infantry beta as stated, yes they're working on the vehicles, and yes, it's actually going to have a release fairly soon.

You've waited this long, you can wait another number of weeks.

Can someone PLEASE fill me in on this Reborn mod? What is it and what C&C game is it mimicking on the Renegade engine?

Thank you.

TY! That's awesome. One question: Is Umagon man or woman?

Umagon is a woman.

If they're only 99% done, and if they don't have a clear, absolute release date, then they should do less hyping and more working.

They aren't 99% done. It doesn't say that anywhere.

And yes they did say a release in Feb. Renardin said on these forums as a second thread from the one on their forums.

And other dev members said release in Feb.

But that is just it, they didn't give a date, they just said the name of a month. Meaning it could be out later today, tomorrow, or the last second of Feb... as long as it is in February.

And an infantry beta is more than enough. I would of been happy with just maps being released for Renegade so we could explore.

The topic title said 2008, the image said February.

Yeah, this is called staff released information before it should have been.

Either way, we are breaking our back to finish putting it together and are confident with our current schedule.

It will be an infantry only due to the massive amount of reworks that we had to do throughout. The mod was in a very bad state of affairs when I came on board, and DarkAngel especially has spent a lot of time with Paradox recreating the entire always.dat and objects.ddb from scratch.

There is still a lot of work on the presets and scripts side with vehicles, that is why we didn't want to push them in the first release so we could at least get a release out.
