Just saying thanks to all of you at WS, I know it must be tough switching locations.

I think you got the servers back up in a reasonable amount of time and I think SOME people need to quit their bitching... I'm getting sick of it...

And by the way does anyone know if Noch's House or Girv is coming back?

Okay, a few problems with that. First of all, the only reason Westwood moved their servers is because they were shutting down. The servers were transferred to the EA Headquarters in Los Angeles, CA from Irvine, CA. Second, Westwood no longer exists. They are gone, forever, a thing of the past. Renegade's support is now solely in the hands of the community and EA. Thirdly, since Girv333 and DevsHse were both official Westwood servers, they probably won't be back, considering Westwood is no longer a company... unless EA is so generous to provide us a couple servers. Finally, it looks like you're addressing your post to the folks at WS (which no longer exists). Well, last week or so n00bstories took over the duty of the official forums, which is where you're at now, <http://www.n00bstories.com/renforums/> (AKA <http://www.renegadeforums.com>). Moderating is controlled by Crimson, Blazer, and Lefthanded (w/13375P34K). These boards have no affiliations with EA or Westwood legally, they are completely independent. No (former) Westwood employees visit here, so they won't get you're (uninformed) message. These boards are independent, with no language filters, and aren't biased.

GASP

Lol, sorry I haven't been playing much lately and I didn't really know what was going on, except that people were bitching...

Thanks for not being a Jackass or EA (evil asshole) and bite my head off for not knowing what was going on...
