ive noticed that there are some tactisc in the game that could work, but are neglected. ill post 2 here, both require team work, so its hard to do them whne no one on ur team is willing. 1) diversionary assault: Get a few, or one or however many guys u see fit to send, guys to run into the enemy tunnel. then get all your friendly tanks etc, to pull and all out frontal assault on the ATG/Obelisk. When the ATG/Obelisk is busy beating up your frontal force, sneak in the back door with beacons and c4, blow up base power first and then proceeed to cause as much destruction as you wish to. 2) trojan horse A) steal an enemy vehicle, start a full out assault on enemy base and run in with the vehicle. i suggest an APC or buggy. people won't notice (though the ATG/Obelisk will) pull around behind the power plant in nod or weapons factory in gdi. hop out and kill. B) use the harvester as a sheild (someone else mentioned this in a different post) follow it in (works best while cloaked) keeping it between u and the ATG/Obelisk then plant c4 in the tib refinery harvester garage. C) this i ahvent tried but it's a good idea, let me know if it works or not. put c4 on an enemy vehicle retreating, or on your own. set off c4 when vehicle is next to building. try the harvester whne its droppin off its tiberium. dont know if that'll work but its worth a try.

It does work and it's very funny. You can also have everybody rush in and plant C4 on a guy's back. Then he can get next to an MCT, back facing it, and guard the delivery until it is ready. I've heard that even if people die they still have the C4 on them. [February 24, 2002: Message edited by: Crazy Ivan] for an easy tower destruction, i get a buggy/hummvee, technician character, and a buddy as mobius or blackhand or whatever to ride in it with me. i move straight towards the tower and the vehicle should get close enough to it before being destroyed to allow us to go in the tower, and live. i place ALL c4 directly on mct screen and other guy starts shootin it to help finish it off
