Your question is very hard to understand. But p^laying the game is free, your communication costs to the Internet are at your charge. If you have dsl or cable, then there will normally be no costs as those usually have a monthly forfait for all your Internet communications.

You pay for the Internet connection you play on, but the game itself is free to play online.

You have an internet connection which you pay for. Same price if you're mailing, surfing, downloading or playing games. You don't pay for Renegade.
