cAmpa is popular for his great work on the RenCom Marathon and Atomix-Gaming.

And now, he is making a new hud!

ChangeList:

- Fixed a memleak in shaders.dll from scripts 3.44.
- Fixed that crashbug when you enter a vehicle with the "weaponimage" function on.
- Added new feature, building status display.
- Added Harvester to building status.

It's deffinatly making already accessable information allot more easier to access whilst in combat. It is an advantage over other players in that respect I suppose... Especially the harvester health. I mean, you can't access that info by pressing "k". That part is deffinatly a little cheeky at the very least.

I would feel allot more comfortable if it didn't display the harvester health.

But pretty nice hud, and good job on making it. It must be pretty satisfying

Okay lets define skin = texture for this topic.

Everything is right when you define it as right. So it's right from now on (for this topic).

Edit: Btw a cheat is an unfair advantage. In my eyes these buildinglivebars and bright skins aren't a real unfair one.

Especially when you think about the kind of release. Everybody can use it on RenCom servers ONLY on renCom servers. It will NOT be possible to modify it, play somewhere else with it, to look up the code or the hud.ini commands of it.

Quote:According to your definition, I just have to make all cheats accessable to everybody so it wont be an advantage anymore.

No. That would imply that this hud-feature is a "cheat" in MY opinion but it isn't as you can read above. You would be right if I say these buildingbars are a cheat.

So I'm completely against releasing cheats to everbody.

These buildingsbars aren't a cheat in my opinion - the are a feature for rencom servers.

AND I'm for releasing this FEATURE to every Rencom user. That I'm for. This would be right.

Sorry, m8. But I still don't get it.

What is the difference between a bright skin, which you call a fair advantage ("not really unfair" = fair I assume), and lets say big head?

Bright skins help you to spot things more easy..... big head helps to hit things more easy. Bright skin user have an advantage over pure players. Big head user have and advantage over pure players.

The question is not, which one is the bigger cheat. Its like compareing shop lifting with MDK.... but still: both is a crime per definition.

Subject: Re: Hud

That's a matter of tolerance and opinion. I make the differnce between such hardcore-cheats and that slight modifications.

PLZ I'm NOT a MMORPG player or a WOW expert but for example in WoW you can code your own macros/scripts which give you similar advantages. These players also have an advantage vs other pure players but no one calls that a cheat or unfair. It is completly normal.

Of course there are also macros or scripts or whatever which are called a cheat or unfair but the point is that they decide or make a differnece which advantage is fair and which is unfair (and is called a cheat).

Why not in renegade too?

A cheat for me is something hardcore: wallhack, aimbot, speedhack, firerate which gives an unfair and very overpowered advantage.

This buildingbars don't give you such a overpowered hardcore advantage. They don't let you aim better, do more damage or something like that.

That's my opinion - hope you got now my point of view.

Posted by Wiener on Wed, 07 May 2008 21:00:07 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yes, I do understand your point. But it seems I'm more strict on definition here. I don't care how much advantage you gain...otherwise I would tolerate radar hax, for example. Its not really a big advantage in comparison to aimbot and co. However this little advantage of knowing that some enemy is close even If you haven't spotted him yet, can make the difference. Same as the nuke you spot a sec earlier because you have a nice pink blinking color on it (I cant even count how often I couldn't disarm a nuke by 1 sec). Or colorful explosions, bright green snipers, purple sbh's, macros to buy certain units.... or knowing which buildings are damaged without the need of "k".

Each for his own is just a very tiny advantage... almost not noticeable. All together a nice cheat package

That is true, but they don't allow you to see other players stats, same as NPCs(I play WoW.).

Also, please note I STOPPED PLAYING RENEGADE!(Why you ask?It's dieing out, and there is no stopping it without creating an entirely new game.)

Subject: Re: Hud

Yea okay but it is such very slight advantage between pressing k for 1/2 second and just looking there at the list...

Maybe I give you another point: You all know the !minelimit command which is a serverside advantage for all players. Every user on this server can use this advantage feature. But no one calls that a cheat.

Here it is the same. We release this hud-feature only for rencom servers and everybody can use it on them. You just have to download it like Resurrection which gives you the advantage for seeing the harvester health when pressing k - without RR this feature works only in LAN-Mode. So if you call every small and slight advantage a cheat - you must also RR a cheat.

So talked a lot about the buildingbars in our hud. I never talked about these skins. I personally hate these "advantage-skins" the look crap and fu up the graphics and in my opinion they are much closer to the be-a-cheat-border than these b-bars... but the ccr-anticheat systems accept them as legal.

Was waiting for the minelimit command argument and the bind key (end) that comes with scripts. We actually discussed that very long and carefully and agreed on allowing it to compensate the wall dodging to detonate proxy which became a common tactic.

I like your arguments. They show that you're a really intelligent person.

Also, it was not said at topic start that this would be limited to your server. If so, I couldn't care less about it.

As for the comparison with radar hack: this one is actually better at some point. The player that attacks a building or the harv doesn't even need to be close to you for you to see if he's attacking it or not.

You will tell me that there's a sound warning you already. Or actually u won't, u'll just say "blaaaaaaaaaa". Nevertheless, the sound will only be triggered once every x seconds. That's why you first shoot the barracks once when you're attacking the power plant.

You can hit k for a second but that's a second you loose while you're unable to moove. Also, how many persons actively use 'k' during the game?

I think the discussion between Wiener and deathlink6.0 shows clearly why there can be a disagreement. Campa's "arguments", however, only show that he's a fool.

My last statement to this topic:

The building/harv live informations are legal to know for ccr player because everybody has access to them in a game. To know the positions of all players behind walls (wallhack) is unfair information for a player to know and definitely a cheat. Btw thats why this comparison to WoW statshack wasn't at the right place because these stat-informations are unfair a not accessable the building livebars are that for every player as I said.

And I think these buildingsbars are feature like minelimit or other serverside modifications. As we said it will be only usable on rencom servers so it will be like serverside-feature.

In addition this advantage you gain (not pressing k) is such a small one (converges to zero) that it will not influence which team wins at the end. Especially on marathon servers which are the most visited servers these days.

It is just a nice feature for rencom players. In this context I can't really understand your doubts.

Edit: It is your choice. If you don't like playing with this feature - don't play @ rencom.

Looks cool. Will sure try it, but for some reason im too fond of my Tiberium HUD (Normal Renegade HUD with Tiberium look, green, crystals etc) which i got for 2-3 years now Will it also include all the standard renegade maps on the HUD, and correct size?

I like your arguments. They show that you're a really intelligent person.

Also, it was not said at topic start that this would be limited to your server. If so, I couldn't care less about it.

As for the comparison with radar hack: this one is actually better at some point. The player that attacks a building or the harv doesn't even need to be close to you for you to see if he's attacking it or not.

You will tell me that there's a sound warning you already. Or actually u won't, u'll just say "blaaaaaaaaa". Nevertheless, the sound will only be triggered once every x seconds. That's why you first shoot the barracks once when you're attacking the power plant.

You can hit k for a second but that's a second you loose while you're unable to moove. Also, how many persons actively use 'k' during the game?

I think the discussion between Wiener and deathlink6.0 shows clearly why there can be a disagreement. Campa's "arguments", however, only show that he's a fool. You obviously never played against a cheating team with radarhack, or you'd know how ridiculous your post is.

Did you miss the "at some points"?

lol whats a problem? lets Campa removes harvester health and icon from main screen and all be okey now?

(unfortunatly i cant run renegade ressurection scripts and mod itself with my radar stuff)
by the way, i like that cnc3 style radar rims by Deathlink6.0, congratZ m8 (wait UI mod files from Kane's Wrath... Apoc's Wrath lmao...)

Your a retard if you think that that HUD is a cheat in any way. Campa do you think you could release the building health as a standalone from the whole HUD, if it works :/

I don't pay much attention to my buildings since I'm almost always at the front lines with a tank, by the time I get back to base it's too late to do anything.
Having those health bars at the side would help to inform my team to repair though.

To me I wouldn't define cheating as making readily available information more easily accessible. The health of the harv is not displayed anywhere as far as I know though, so that alone I would consider a cheat, the rest is fine.

Never been a fan of the fancy radar though. It serves its purpose, which isn't to look all glorified on your screen.

Whether I would use it or not I'm unsure, but I have to admit it is the best hud I've seen so far and overall a very good job.

I would love to be able to use one of these HUDs, but the problem is they are not OK with RG (some of us don't have the option of not running it).

So if someone could please talk to someone higher up and get these ini files for the maps allowed that would be great.

Get them to disable RG on the server, RG used to be great, but it's fail now, Black-Intells anti-cheat stuff is alot better.

You should be able to run that skin with RG through.

I am a moderator at n00bstories, so I have to use RG. I seriously doubt there is any chance of RG being disabled at n00bstories.

You can't run the HUDs with the radar maps because the ini files that they use are not on the RG allow list.

I played there some days ago, after 2mins playtime i got forced to use rg (from 3ppl lol), my K/d was 1/2. I think n00bstories is the last server with "rg loyalty".

Maybe you just have to wait for 4.0 scripts.
With 4.0 scripts will be RG complete down. (heard this, i hope im right)
