ok, How do you protect the doctor when he can run faster then you and gets between you and the enemy? I have the doctor and came up the elevator and Im stuck their. Nods all around and the doctor runs way ahead. No matter what I do I can not kill all enemys and protect him.

I never found out a way to keep him from being such a moron... unless somebody knows how to control him, the only thing I can suggest is to keep reloading until you finally get it He should be able to take a few hits on his own, though, so it's not like you have to be with him every single second.Sorry, don't know any better way

Just remeber that his suit is tiberium proof, so when faced with multiple attackers, target the tiberium weapon wielding guys last, and always go after the laser dudes first.

It is a VERY frustrating part of this level, but if you can keep your concentration and forget all the lasers coming at you, you CAN do it. I also stayed in front of the doctor trying to prevent him from running too fast to give me some time!

How I did it was this.When you first get off of that elevator kill the stealth dudes behind the boxes on the left. There are 2. Next I stayed near the elevator and sniped all the enemies sitting right on top of the doc.Then I stayed back and killed the ceiling guns with chain laser and engaged the round 2 guys that are off to the right of where the doc stands.This was the most frustrating point of this level. I think I had 5 or 6 restarts. By the time I got to this point the doc was almost full health and could take a lot of punishment before dying. I almost always died first.

The other thing you have to remember is the ceiling guns. If you don't get these early they will score a lot of hits on you.
