Quote: AT&T plans to transition to HSPA release 7 sometime in 2009, which will deliver even bigger speeds "exceeding 20 megabits per second," ... "a clear and logical path" to 700MHz 4G access via the Long Term Evolution (LTE) standard in the 2010 timeframe which should again increase speeds fivefold to nearly 100 megabits per second.

4G FTW!

Belgium should be part off The Netherlands

We don't have data limit's. We have 3G all over the place..
Internet's cheap, fast and no limits.

Command & Conquer Belgium!
