TalkConsoles.net is a working progress for a new gaming site. This site is dedicated towards all gaming consoles. It is in the works and in the mean time we would like to gather some team members together before we start advertising. This site will contain gaming reviews, downloads (huge download section for Renegade, similar to renmaps). If you go to the website now you will notice a bunch of jibberish. We are in the process of installing the right modules and plugins and getting all the skins corrected.

We are looking for the following (all volunteer):

Content Writers: Includes writing reviews for games for gaming consoles (including PC)

Downloads Manager: Managing the Downloads section of the website. Keeping it updating and deleting files that users may upload that do not belong there.

Webmasters: People who are experienced with Joomla 1.5 and know how to create new pages, categories, articles, and everything else related to Joomla. These people will work closely with content writers so that everything can be placed in it's rightful area.

Forum Moderators: These people will be selected from the previous openings.
