when playing gdi i happened upon a stealth tank that was behind our tiberium refinery. the driver was out repairing it and obviously didn't see me. i quickly jumped in and the guy just kept repairing it while dodging my attempts to run him over..lol.. anyway, i thanked him for the curious, professional service of "my" new stealth and headed down the road to do some harm being shot at all the while by my own guys (thank god ff is turned off! it's ok though, i've done it too. sometimes it takes a few seconds to realize that it's a friendly stolen vehicle) it was the city map and there are tons of places for a stealth to hide and i did just that. i'd let the enemy vehicles go by and start ripping them up from behind. often they wouldn't know what was hitting them, taking the normal evasive action of moving back and forth, but never turning around. finally i went to the well once too often and got behind a ma and opened fire, but i didn't see the stealth that was accompanying him and finally lost "my" stealth. it was the most fun i've ever had in a stealth tank and i was gdi at the time..

Alright, me and my friends just got the game, and played it over a LAN. We split up, 2 on 2, and every time we played, GDI won. This annoyed the NOD players, and turned them against the game. Do you guys have any simple tips for NOD players against the GDI base defense, and Mammoth tanks?

Your stealing stealth tank did not work better than my one in the demo.I took out a power plant in the demo and seriously damage the air strip plus several gus and tanks in the Nod base.

Flame tank all the way. Flame tank owns AGT and mammoth and other tanks. Remember you have to ram the flame tank right into the incoming tank or AGT.

I have destroyed the Hand of NOD and the Tiberium Refinery. I have killed all NOD in both and in the "Temple" behind the refinery. I am now supposed to get a gate down, but I can't find a switch or anything to do it. Please help.

Try the power plant... That's the way to lower the laser fences around the Temple... If you mean the gates around the temple you just have to approach from the other side of the gate and hit the switch mounted next to it. Hope this helps Cheers

There are two control rooms on the vessel one at the bow and one at the stern. The captain is in the one at the bow, the first mate is at the stern. One problem I had with this mission is that if you complete the objectives out of order the program will not recognise that you have the card when you return to the sub with the prisoners. All you can do is start again and complete the objectives in their correct order.
