When you hit 'PrintScreen' ingame it automatically sends that screen shot to your ren data folder, but not when its an endgame screen. Is there a way to make the 'PrintScreen' send the endgame screen shot to the ren data folder aswell

I never knew about it not printing the Endgame screen.

Next time, try and like hit print screen anyway, but instead go into Paint (or whatever image editing program you use) and paste. It will paste the screenshot into the program and you can save it as whatever and wherever you like.

Well i know the copy paste but like if ur in a series of games and want to print more than one endgame screen. Besides it helps out alot if it jsut goes to the ren data folder or use a 3rd party screencapture software like fraps.

+ you can use that on other games as well.

Fraps blocks my teamspeak overlay and crashes my computer frequently. And for some reason fraps ss require alot more time to upload to things like imageshack

TT are also working on fixing the SS delay the first time you take one, hopefully they'll include the ability to snap shots anywhere anytime.

Been there done that. Making a screenshots is barely noticable currently, and you can make a screenshot of the endgame screen as you please. You can even screenshot menus and they will appear in the /Screenshots/ folder, if you think the menus look that interesting.
